Experience and quality information

The first edition of Panorama Minero magazine was published in the 70's, when mining was just a nascent industry in the country. Over the years, with a growing and supportive readership, it managed to establish itself as a reference in the dissemination of all mining matters in Argentina, based on informative and academic content that was new at that time. Later on, in 1996, the organization diversified and opened a new event-oriented business unit, that positioned itself as a true leader and remains unchallenged to this day. Panorama Minero stands out for three fundamental pillars of the company's reputation: editorial excellence, quality information and networking opportunities.

A magazine with a history

After long decades consolidating as the most renowned printed medium in Argentine mining, Panorama Minero magazine has now exceeded 500 issues while more than 15,000 monthly readers are testimony to its leadership. Adapting to the current times, with growing digitization and environmental commitment, the organization has migrated to a digital publication, still maintaining a series of special editions in printed format that preserve the brand emblem. At the same time, it is a key tool to spread the word on events organized by the firm and other meetings of interest to advertisers.

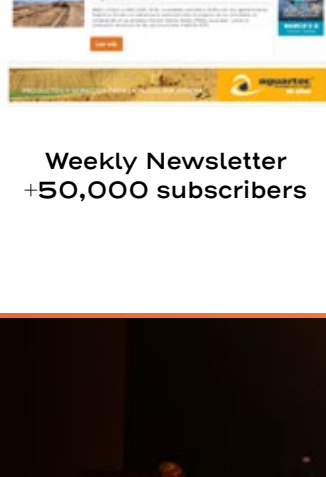

Compendium of Argentine Mining

For those interested in how current mining projects are faring in the country, the Compendium of Argentine Mining is an indispensable directory, used even by the lead actors of reported developments. Published on an annual basis, this unrivaled source brings data of interest on the operations and ventures located in the territory. In addition, it provides details of their owners, the location of each project, their geology, extent of progress and operating status, among other relevant information. It makes an indispensable reference material when making decisions related to mining. Valid for investors, analysts, academics and professionals.

Directory of Provider Companies

In light of the proportions and importance of mining in the current context, the industry is posed to revolutionize the demand for suppliers to cater for the goods and services projects need in order to guarantee smooth operation. The Directory of Provider Companies offers precise information on the companies integrating the mining supply chain and assuring the sector availability of equipment, supplies and resources of various natures. All the information on Argentine mining suppliers and their service offerings in a single and unique publication.

World-class meetings

Panorama Minero leads the segment of mining communications and event organization, locally and internationally renowned for its ability to attract public interest and the participation of leading actors in the sector and other related industries. The company has been a pioneer in the organization of globally recognized conferences, exhibitions, business meetings and trade missions, private business tables and current-affairs forums. Within these contexts, the most relevant decision-makers in mining interface with other specialists and references in strategic locations, such as the province of San Juan, Buenos Aires City and the Argentine North-West, with new proposals in Salta, Jujuy and Catamarca.

In addition, Panorama Minero plays a part in highly regarded international events and carry out actions abroad together with country delegations to underscore the full potential of Argentine mining.

Event proposal

Based in the City of Buenos Aires, Argentina Gold, Silver and Copper is a dual event that includes the mining industry's annual dinner known as The Night of Distinctions, that aims to connect the metal mining industry with other segments, at a time of special relevance to the activity.

With a focus on the contribution of iconic segments such as gold and silver, and highlighting the solid potential of copper, a key resource for mining growth due to its impact on energy transition, this space offers technical talks, discussion panels, business rounds, and an exclusive awards and celebration event in which good practices and the main milestones achieved during the year are recognized.

San Juan, Key Driver of Argentine Mining Development, also known in the industry as San Juan Mining Expo, is the most representative and federal event of the industry in the country. From one of the most prosperous territories for investment in large industries, this biennial meeting brings together supplier and operating companies and key actors from both the public and private sectors, creating a space for exchange and collaboration that is essential to industry evolution. The Expo offers a variety of attractions and entertainment for the community, along with informative talks, technical courses and exclusive proposals for every participant and visitor. The expo stands out for offering opportunities to generate new businesses and possibilities of interaction with society and references in the national production arena.

The International Conference: Argentina Copper is the latest event launched by Panorama Minero, held with great success in 2024 in the province of San Juan, a region that hosts the copper projects with the best prospects on the national stage. Argentina Copper is a key platform on a mineral that is essential for the future of the planet, attracting to the area copper mining companies, investors, institutional and government agencies and international experts. It is endorsed by all key actors in the activity and backed by the experience of Panorama Minero in the organization of this type of world-class events.

The International Seminar: Lithium in South America is Panorama Minero's most innovative proposal, launched in Argentina in 2011. With +13 years of leadership in its segment, it is the most relevant symposium and business meeting related to lithium in the region according to testimonials from the participants themselves. Since its inception, it brings lithium and electromobility stakeholders to Argentina's North West (NOA) region, with a broad presence of development companies and international representatives. It is the first and most influential lithium event in South America, with growing global recognition.
